PGA TOUR UTAH CHAMPIONSHIP

The PGA TOUR's stars of tomorrow are returning to Oakridge Country Club August 2–8 for the 30th edition of the Utah Championship. The tournament is presented by Zions Bank and hosted by the Utah Sports Commission. After a pause due to Covid-19, the tournament will once again be open to the public, and Davis County residents and their families can attend for free with a valid ID; no ticket purchase is necessary.

The Utah Championship, formerly known as the Utah Classic, is part of the Korn Ferry Tour. This professional golf tournament has produced a significant list of champions since its debut, including Salt Lake City native Tony Finau and the inaugural winner John Daly, who went on to win the 1991 PGA Championship and the 1995 British Open.

Last year's tournament witnessed the retirement of local legend, Daniel Summerhays, who decided to step into a teacher-mentor role after a long PGA TOUR career. However, it was Kyle Jones that birdied the second play-off hole to walk away with the title. After the thrilling win, Jones said, "Honestly, right now, I'm pretty speechless. I've been waiting for this moment for quite a while."

The week provides more than just exceptional golf. It raises money for several charitable organizations, including the Tony Finau Foundation, the Huntsman Cancer Institute, and the Boys and Girls Club of Weber-Davis.

The Utah Championship cares about the health of our community and will follow CDC and PGA TOUR advisories for the tournament.

UTOPIA FIBER INTERNET

UTOPIA fiber internet is under consideration by the Farmington City Council. A recent survey of 689 Farmington households showed 96.1% deemed internet access as “very important.” Over the last year, the Covid pandemic made evident the need for high-speed internet for work, school, and even just basic community interactions. At one point in the beginning of the pandemic, there were public school students accessing the city Wi-Fi in the parking lot so that they had a reliable internet source for school because it was not available at their home. Farmington City is considering providing a fiber internet broadband option to all residents. Right now, the city is evaluating a partnership with UTOPIA internet for that purpose – all public facilities owned and operated by the city are connected to the UTOPIA fiber network. Many businesses and developments in Farmington have paid for separate UTOPIA connections, yet the service is not available to the community at large. Currently, only 22% of Farmington residents have fiber internet options available to them. Nearly 60% of Farmington residents are spending more than double the money on monthly internet service when compared to what is spent on public utilities monthly (sewer, water, garbage etc....) yet internet access has proven to be just as essential as any other utility for most families during the pandemic. 90% of resident survey respondents requested the city explore fiber broadband options beyond what is now available. 88% of resident survey respondents said they would be interested in signing up for fiber to the home. UTOPIA has expressed an interest in answering this call for broadband demand. After having successfully deployed services in neighboring cities in Davis County (Layton, Centerville, and West Point), UTOPIA believes they can meet the challenges and provide low-cost fiber internet options for Farmington with an opportunity to select from multiple internet providers presently not available in our community.

On July 20th at 7:00 pm, the Farmington City Council will be joined by UTOPIA representatives to outline a plan to provide fiber internet service options to all Farmington businesses and homes over the next two years. UTOPIA’s presentation will include a public information session. Please feel free to attend and come with questions you may have about this opportunity and what it could provide for you and your family.

For many residents, having a high school within the city is a dream come true. Farmington High School Phoenix became a reality in 2018. From the beginning, the Phoenix have proven to be strong, smart and powerful. Last year, Covid 19 put a strain on well-established patterns of education in Davis School District and schools throughout the nation. Students, teachers and administrators struggled to find the best balance between safety and learning. It was a hard year and many experienced setbacks. But as vice principal Merci Rossmango says, "Our students persevered and accomplished their goals despite a year of change and uncertainty. Like the Phoenix, they rose from the ashes."

FHS is a prominent source of pride for Farmington, and accolades are in order. We hope you enjoy learning about accomplishments by FHS individuals and teams who are shining with success and excellence. And they're just getting started . . .

When placing your trash container out for pickup, there are a few things residents should remember. If you have been frustrated, check yourself with the following points.

- Have trash containers at the curb by 6am on collection day.
- Place the container so that it faces the street. Place the can in front of the curb, not on top of. If no curb, place within two feet off the blacktop.
- Do not place containers near a parked vehicle or other obstruction. The collector must have clear access to containers.
- Place containers where they will not block delivery of mail.
- Multiple containers should be placed at least four feet apart.
- Do not place the following items in trash containers: hot ashes or coals; large quantities of dirt, sod, rocks or concrete; flammable materials; large bulky items; construction, remodeling, or demolition debris.
- Items greater than four feet in length should not be placed in containers.
- Do not overload refuse over the top of the container.
- Remove containers from the street by the end of the day.

How did you do? The process of garbage collection is set up to go smoothly if everyone does their part. A map of garbage collection days can be found on the city website.
