

LaVerne Schraedel

I support faith, liberty, happy family & community living. I'm confident I can serve Farmington well on the Council because of my commitment to listen, understand and advocate for the people. I am concerned about the growing tendency we see in our country to disregard what our Creator and the people's voices are saying. I feel we stand at a crucial time to unite to heal our land. We're seeing confusion of what separation of church and state meant to our Founders and the meaning we give it today. Public servants are following political trends from other city and state officials, rather than looking to deity for wisdom and direction during uncertain times. I will earn your trust by advocating transparency when spending your tax dollars and evaluating zoning, validate your concerns and protect our liberties from the improper role of government. I will strive to uphold in city office those same principles which have upheld our nation for decades, even centuries. I encourage all citizens to use your power to be heard by voting this November according to timeless principles and just as importantly, according to your conscience.
