For fifteen years I have lived, shopped, worked, and actively participated in the Farmington community. The last four years I have been privileged to serve on the City Council. I love Farmington, and I'm thrilled to be seeking re-election. I'm asking for your continued support as I work hard to be a voice for Farmington residents.

During my term I have served as the Council liaison for the Development Review Committee (DRC), Communities that Care (Central 3 CTC), the Historic Preservation Commission, Youth City Council, the Parks, Recreation, Arts, and Trails (PRAT) committee, and multiple departments and subcommittees.

Some of my favorite projects have been, the purchase of the Rock Mill, fiber optics with no city bond, new 16-acre park, westside fire station, and preservation of historic homes.

My husband, Jeremy, and I are parents to seven children. I love that Farmington is a safe place to raise my family. Our Police and Fire Departments are phenomenal!

I have participated in city government without any personal agenda; rather, I am a mother, wife, teacher, citizen, and neighbor. I am willing to continue to listen, learn, and honorably represent the citizens of Farmington. I'd love to have your vote.
